

Advice is the Key

Social Welfare Advice and the UK Government

Access to free, independent, quality assured social welfare advice is crucial for rebuilding trust in public systems and a key to delivering the Government's goals. Advice services have been vital during the pandemic and the ongoing cost-of-living crisis but face rising demand, funding cuts, and workforce shortages. Investing in these services not only supports vulnerable communities but also generates significant savings for the public sector. They need strong, cross-departmental support from the Government. Our key asks from the Government are:

- Boost the funding for social welfare advice and legal aid.
- Build social welfare advice into missions, priorities, and legislation.
- Give the advice sector a seat at the table to improve welfare systems.
